

Buying at Romeo as an Investor?

Here's how to maximise your Tax Deductions:

When buyers invest in property, they're looking for two things: Capital Growth and Tax Deductions.

Depreciation is one of the biggest Tax Deductions available to property investors. In fact, it's a key part of Negative Gearing, second only to interest on your loan.

Negative Gearing is important because it allows investors to offset rental losses against their other income, like wages or salary, improving cash flow and making property ownership more affordable.

And here's the good news: there are substantially more deductions available when you buy a brand-new property or a strata property. That's because:

- You can claim Plant & Equipment in brand-new apartments (appliances, carpets, blinds, etc.).
- You also claim your unit entitlement to the Strata Common Areas: gyms, lifts, pools, and car parks etc.

On a 3 x 2 apartment at Romeo by Finbar that adds up to $145,296 in deductions over just the first 5 years. That will provide a major boost to your after-tax cash flow!

With a professionally prepared Tax Depreciation Schedule, these deductions reduce your taxable income, improve cash flow, and make your investment more affordable to hold, year after year, for up to 40 years.
